THE KALEIDOSCOPE
VOL. LXXXVI
1982

In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth. The earth was without form and void, and darkness was upon the face of the deep, and the spirit of God was moving over the face of the waters.

Genesis 1: 1-2

*And God said, "Let there be light"; and there was light. And God saw that the light was good;
and God separated the light from the darkness. God called the light Day, and the darkness he called Night. And there was evening and there was morning,
one day.*

Genesis 1: 3-5

And God said, "Let there be a firmament in the midst of the waters, and let it separate the waters from the waters." And God made the firmament and separated the waters which were under the firmament from the waters which were above the firmament. And it was so. And God called the firmament Heaven. And there was evening and there was morning, a second day.

And God said, "Let the waters under the heavens be gathered together in one place, and let the dry land appear." And it was so. God called the dry land Earth, and the waters that were gathered together He called Seas. And God saw that it was good.

Genesis 1: 6-10

And God said, "Let the earth put forth vegetation, plants yielding seed, and fruit trees bearing fruit in which is their seed, each according to its kind, upon the earth." And it was so.

*The earth brought forth vegetation, plants yielding seeds according to their own kinds, and trees bearing fruit in which is their seed, each according to its kind. And God saw that it was good. And there was evening and there was morning,
a third day.*

And God said, "Let there be lights in the firmament of the heavens to separate the day from the night; and let them be for signs and for seasons and for days and years, and let them be for lights in the firmament of the heavens to give light upon the earth. And it was so. And God made the two great lights, the greater light to rule the day, and the lesser light to rule the night; he made the stars also.

*And God set them in the firmament of the heavens to give light upon the earth, to rule over the day and over the night, and to separate the light from the darkness. And God saw that it was good. And there was evening and there was morning,
a fourth day.*

Genesis 1: 11-19

And God said, "Let the waters bring forth swarms of living creatures, and let birds fly above the earth across the firmament of the heavens." So God created the great sea monsters and every living creature that moves, with which the waters swarm, according to their kinds, and every winged bird according to its kind. And God saw that it was good. And God blessed them, saying, "Be fruitful and multiply and fill the waters in the seas, and let birds multiply on the earth." And there was evening and there was morning, a fifth day.

And God said, "Let the earth bring forth living creatures according to their kinds: cattle and creeping things and beasts of the earth according to their kinds." And it was so. And God made the beasts of the earth according to their kinds and the cattle according to their kinds, and everything that creeps upon the ground according to its kind. And God saw that it was good.

Genesis 1: 20-25

Then God said, "Let us make man in our own image, after our likeness, and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the birds of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creeps upon the earth." So God created man in his own image, in the image of God he created them; male and female he created them. And God blessed them, and God said to them, "Be fruitful and multiply, and fill the earth and subdue it; have dominion over the fish of the sea and over the birds of the air and over every living thing that moves upon the earth." And God said, "Behold, I have given you every plant yielding seed which is upon the face of the earth, and every tree with seed in its fruit; you shall have them for food. And to every beast of the earth, and to every bird of the air, and to every thing that creeps upon the earth, everything that has the breath of life, I have given every green plant for food." And it was so. And God saw everything that he had made, and behold, it was very good. And there was evening and there was morning, a sixth day.

Genesis 1: 26-31

In memory of Robert Thruston Hubbard, Jr. 1914-1982

Hampden-Sydney College lost a long-time educator and friend with the death on May 19 of Professor Robert Thruston Hubbard, Jr. The fourth generation to attend Hampden-Sydney, Professor Hubbard was a distinguished scholar and gentleman throughout his years as student and professor.

Professor Hubbard was an authentic link with the College's rich past. The first of his name, his great-grandfather, was a member of the class of 1831; his grandfather was valedictorian of the class of 1859; his father, class of 1897, was a long-time Trustee. Professor Hubbard was a leader in undergraduate life: elected to Omicron Delta Kappa, he was graduated summa cum laude in the class of 1935. The crippling illness which struck him as a student did not deter him from entering the University of Virginia Law School, where he was elected to the Law Review, the Raven Society, and the Order of the Coif, and received his degree with highest honors in 1942.

Appointed to the faculty in 1946 as an instructor in English, he augmented his legal training with graduate work in political science and eventually assumed responsibility for all political science courses at the College. A member not only of the Bar but of various professional associations, he was president of the Virginia Social Science Association in 1964-1965. Appointed Professor in 1973 and Professor Emeritus in 1977, he continued to teach part-time until his last brief illness.

The facts only introduce the man; they do not capture him as his many friends knew him. He typified so charmingly and modestly that extraordinary subspecies of Southern gentlemen known as "The Vanishing Virginian." A nickname always seemed incongruously used of him, dignified in bearing and courtly in demeanor as he was; yet he did not flinch to respond to "Bob." In fact, his genial good humor, gracious amiability, highly distilled and gently expressed wisdom, and freely dry wit, not to mention his endless wealth of anecdotes and good stories — always told with the consummate raconteur's teasing embellishment and perfect timing — made him a delightful companion for any occasion. And how he loved socializing with friends! Generously cultivated, well informed, and gifted with an amazing memory, he artfully laced his elegantly phrased conversation with ingenious and often amusingly apt quotations from literature, Scripture, the Prayer Book, or Humphrey Bogart movies. He thought good laughter was good medicine. It is almost incomprehensible that he was a man who had not known a day free from sometimes excruciating pain for almost fifty years. Personal triumph over dreadful physical adversity finds new meaning in his life.

He brought to his classroom the manner of an avuncular senior Justice of Appeal: he was on the bench, and his students were either tyro lawyers or naïve witnesses. In either event, poor preparation, an inability to withstand cross-examination, or failure to express thoughts clearly, accurately, logically, and with some grace could have results hard to bear on the spot but wholesome in the long run.

His love of the College was boundless and found many avenues of expression. His discerning taste made him sensitive to deviations from high standards of policy, or performance, in everything from football to landscaping; he was an acute judge of men and manners. His kindness to all sorts and conditions of men was the final testimony to his Christian character. The College gave him a full life and a happy home; by his example of genteelness and courage as much as by his contribution of concern and service, he in turn enriched and ennobled the life of the College.

Tradition and Hampden-Sydney are inseparable; it is impossible even so much as to think of Hampden-Sydney College without simultaneously contemplating the richness of her heritage. This tradition is not quite so evident here in this modern gymnasium as it would have been had we all assembled on the lawn at that magnificent structure we call Venable Hall, but my classmates and I can attest to the fact that it is this tradition which sets Hampden-Sydney apart from all other "small, liberal arts colleges."

But what exactly is this "tradition" of which I speak? According to the Oxford Dictionary the word "tradition" first appeared in the manner I would like to use it 185 years before the founding of Hampden-Sydney, and it refers to the transmission of statements, beliefs, rules, or customs by word of mouth or by practice without writing.

"Tradition" is derived from the Latin "trans," meaning across or over, and "dare" meaning to give, and so literally means to give across or over. Thus tradition, which makes up such an integral part of our alma mater should necessarily be traced to the statements, beliefs and customs of Hampden-Sydney's founding fathers who have given over so much of the spirit that makes Hampden-Sydney special.

The late Herbert C. Bradshaw, class of 1930, began his History of Hampden-Sydney College with the words:

"Hampden-Sydney College owes its establishment to the planting of the Presbyterian faith in Southside Virginia during the second third of the eighteenth century."

This college's roots are undeniably tied to the development of Protestantism in the middle Atlantic colonies and so a brief examination of Christian contributions to the establishment and continued existence of Hampden-Sydney seems at least relevant on this occasion of Commencement in the 206th year of the college.

In October of 1775, Samuel Stanhope Smith, our first president, placed an article in the Virginia Gazette which contained these words concerning the aim of a Hampden-Sydney education with regard to religion:

"The public may rest assured that the whole shall be conducted in the most catholic plan. Parents of every denomination may be at full liberty to require their children to attend any mode of worship which either custom or conscience has rendered most agreeable to them . . . Our character and interests, therefore being both at stake, furnish a strong security for our avoiding all party instigations, for our care to form good men and good citizens on the common and universal principles of morality, distinguished from the narrow tenets which form the complexion of any sect."

Hampden-Sydney's aim since its inception has thus been to produce humane, lettered, and I might add, Christian men who traditionally become good, productive citizens.

Hampden-Sydney's early presidents were, without doubt, humane, lettered, and Christian men. All six of the men who held the office of president in the first 44 years of Hampden-Sydney's existence were college professors as well as ordained Christian ministers. Furthermore, it was during the administration of the seventh president, Jonathan Cushing, that the building we now call Venable Hall was erected for the purpose of housing Union Theological Seminary, an outgrowth of Hampden-Sydney's Theology Department. According to Morrison's Dictionary of Biography, the seminary was established "with the Bible for its first object." And possible as a result, Hampden-Sydney became and continued to be "a place worthy of regard and held in estimation over a wide territory." To its credit, the college still produces humane, lettered, and Christian men like Dr. Francis A. Schaeffer, renowned scholar, theologian, and author of over twenty books. However, the emphasis has swung heavily towards the first two of these attributes, sometimes to the exclusion of the third.

C.S. Lewis has written that "to the modern undergraduate Christianity is, at least, one of the intellectual options." Hampden-Sydney has always provided ample opportunities for the investigation of this option. At one time, morning and evening public prayers and daily chapel were compulsory and weekly attendance at a church of the student's choice was required whenever it was convenient — that is, whenever a church was within three miles of the College. Although opportunities such as daily prayer meetings, weekly Vesper Services (which were begun this past year by our college Chaplain the Reverend Mr. Sidney J. Hall), and worship services at local churches are today strictly voluntary rather than compulsory, they are nevertheless available. It is now the duty of those of us who are students to take advantage of these opportunities and so fully investigate the Christian option which is in fact an intellectual option.

Contrary to popular belief, there is no "unfathomable chasm" between faith and intellect. I stand before you today bearing witness to the fact that it is possible to integrate a modern liberal arts education of the finest tradition into the framework of a viable faith in Jesus Christ. It is only by God's grace and His power that I have persevered through four years of academic trials in order to have the privilege of standing here today as the valedictorian of the class of 1982.

I have learned much during my four years at Hampden-Sydney and will be forever indebted to the professors I have toiled under, both for what they have taught me as professors in the classroom and for what they have taught me as people outside the classroom. I am also indebted to all those members of the College administration and staff who make up this special Hampden-Sydney community. On behalf of the class I thank you all. There is, however, one professor to whom the class wishes to pay special tribute: Dr. Robert T. Hubbard, Jr. The example of courage and dedication set by Dr. Hubbard in continuing to teach and admonish students in the discipline of political science in spite of failing health practically until the day of his death this past week is an example that none of us who knew him will soon forget. The tradition handed down by Dr. Hubbard lives on in the students he so faithfully instructed. It must have been for men like him who unselfishly give their lives in service that G.K. Chesterton penned the definition, "Tradition does not mean that the living are dead, but that the dead are living."

I conclude with a charge to my fellow graduates. If the College herself and the men like Dr. Hubbard who have given their lives in her service could render a farewell to the class of 1982, I feel that they would do well to use the words of Paul in his Second Letter to the Thessalonians, chapter 2, verse 15:

So then, brothers, stand firm and hold to the traditions we passed on to you whether by word of mouth or by letter.

Parents Weekend: September 26 (Guilford) Homecoming: October 17 (Washington & Lee)

When the Tigers of '81 took to the gridiron on September against Westchester College, they were a young, inexperienced, but optimistic team. After losing twelve starters to graduation the year before, Head Coach Stokeley Fulton had to rely on his talented freshmen. Out of the 40 freshmen who tried out, 37 remained on the squad, and many saw action. While these freshmen contributed much to the program, inexperience seemed to plague Hampden-Sydney all year.

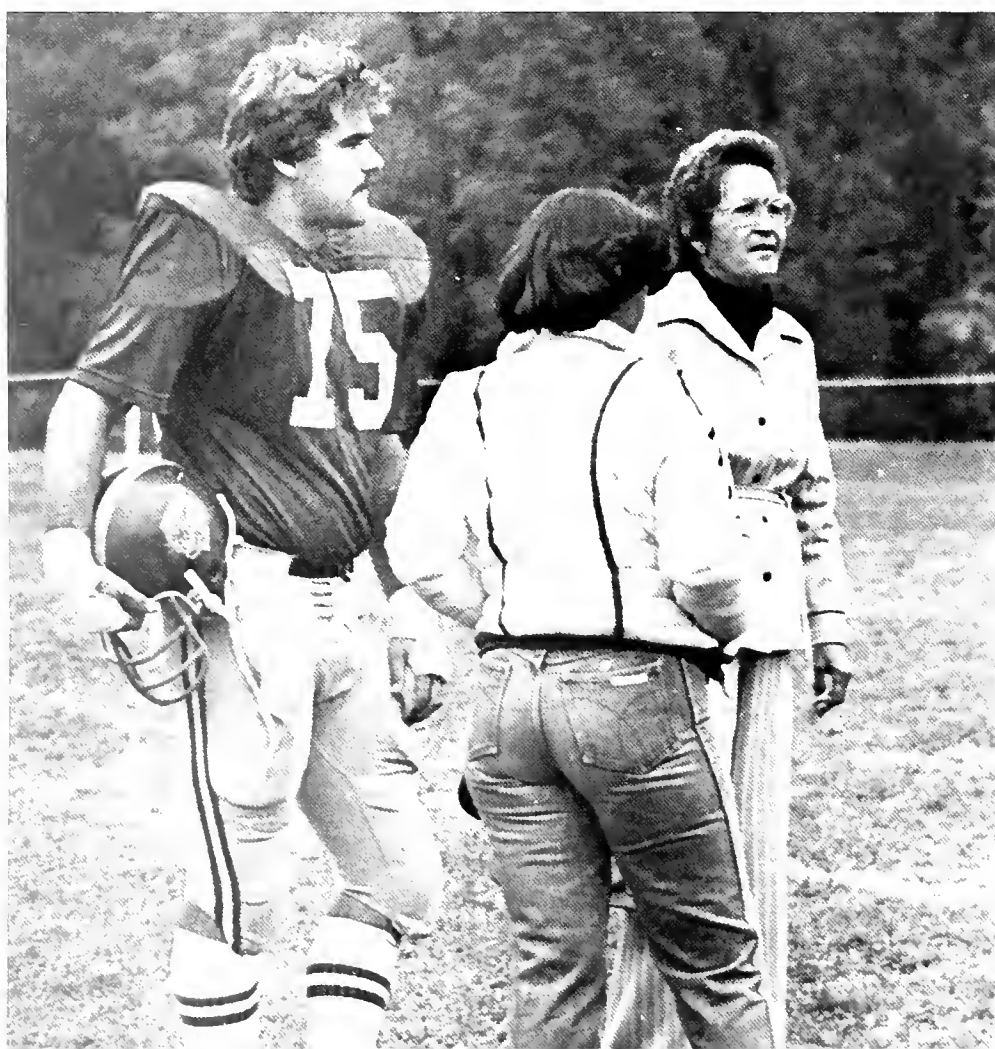

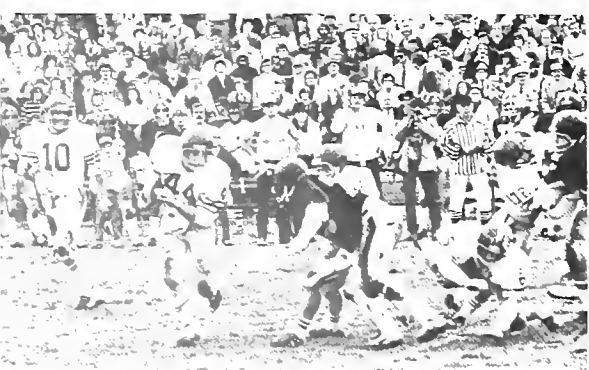

On offense, the Tigers depended mostly on the experience of the backfield. With senior Tim Lass at quarterback, the Tigers scored 128 points. Leading the team effort, though, was all-conference sophomore sensation Tim Jones, who led the league in scoring with 74 points and rushing with 976 yards. Also, Tim Jones came within one point of being ODAC player of the year. While Jones was at tail-back, senior D.A. Worrel was playing at fullback. On the offensive line, inexperience seemed to hamper the Tigers, especially at the tackle position. Surprisingly, though, the young inexperienced corps of receivers showed improvement steadily each week.

Defensively, the Tigers held their position. Coach Lou Wacker, whose last year as a coach at Hampden-Sydney was in '81, felt the only weakness the defense had was a lack of depth. Giving the defense some class was senior safety Tom Thalman, who was named to the ODAC for the second year in a row. Also in the secondary, Jimmy Stringfield and Cory Butler kept offenses on their toes. At linebacker, veteran Neil Huffman and Wallace Terry held tough, while freshman Dave Allan impressed everyone with his hard hitting. The front line, though stable, lacked a lot of depth, but seemed to come through with newcomer Steve Plunkert, senior David Heppner, and Skep Sawyer. Kicking chores in '81 were handled by Paul Fozo and Hiter Harris.

In the first game of the season the Tigers travelled north to face Division II powerhouse Westchester State. In that game, Westchester combined several key breaks with a superb passing attack and went on to defeat the Tigers 28-3. However, the game was not as one-sided as the score might indicate; for the offense gained 302 yards in 72 plays. Sophomore Tim Jones gained 96 yards on 22 attempts, while freshman Skip Cerf had two receptions for 50 yards.

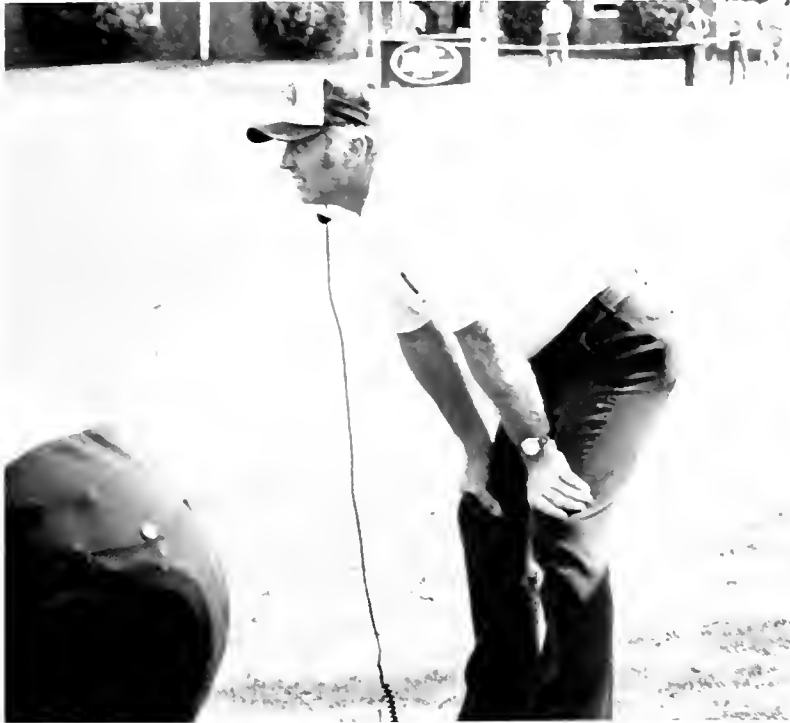

On September 26 the Tigers played their first home game of the season in front of a crowd which saw the Tigers bow to the Scots of Maryville by a score of 35-21. Maryville capitalized on many Hampden-Sydney mistakes which led to the second loss of the year for the Tigers.

The next week the Tigers played at home on Parents' Day in a game that showed vast improvement. Even though they lost by a score of 20-18, the Tigers presented signs that they were maturing. Defensively, the Tigers did not allow a single point in the second half, while the offense produced the most exciting play of the game when Tim Lass connected with freshman Brad Barlow on a 43-yard pass play.

In one of the brightest moments of the year for Tiger fans, Hampden-Sydney took charge of Bridgewater and went on to shut out Bridgewater 20-0. While the offense played superbly, much credit should go to the defense, which, after this game, had gone five consecutive quarters without a score.

In a game that was seen by few, the Tigers were shut out by a tough West Georgia team. Though the game was played during fall break, nothing seemed to go right for the Tigers as they fell to an 1-4 record.

In one of the most exciting games of the year, the Tigers dropped their homecoming game to a tough Washington and Lee team by a score of 7-6. The Generals held the Tigers' offense, which was now the number one offense in the ODAC, scoreless for three quarters. But in the fourth quarter, quarterback Tim Lass dropped back to pass and hit Brad Barlow for a touchdown, leaving the Tigers one point short of W&L at 7-6. Then, the most dramatic play of the game came when Hampden-Sydney, going for two, failed on a pass that was questionably ruled incomplete.

In the next game the Tigers were simply out-classed by the Davidson Wildcats who went on to whip the Tigers by a score of 42-14.

In their best offensive show of the year, the Tigers went on to whip ODAC rival 31-6. However, the following week the Tigers were handed their seventh loss of the season by being shut out 17-0 by a tough Division II team from Central Florida University.

As is true with every Hampden-Sydney football season, the fierce rivalry with Randolph-Macon highlighted the season. While the Tigers were out of contention for the '81 ODAC title, the Yellow-Jackets were very much alive. However, Hampden-Sydney played the spoiler in '81 to Randolph-Macon and the game ended in a 10-10 tie.

Even though the Tigers ended up with a 2-7-1 record, they, like a fine wine, improved with age, and always gave it their best.

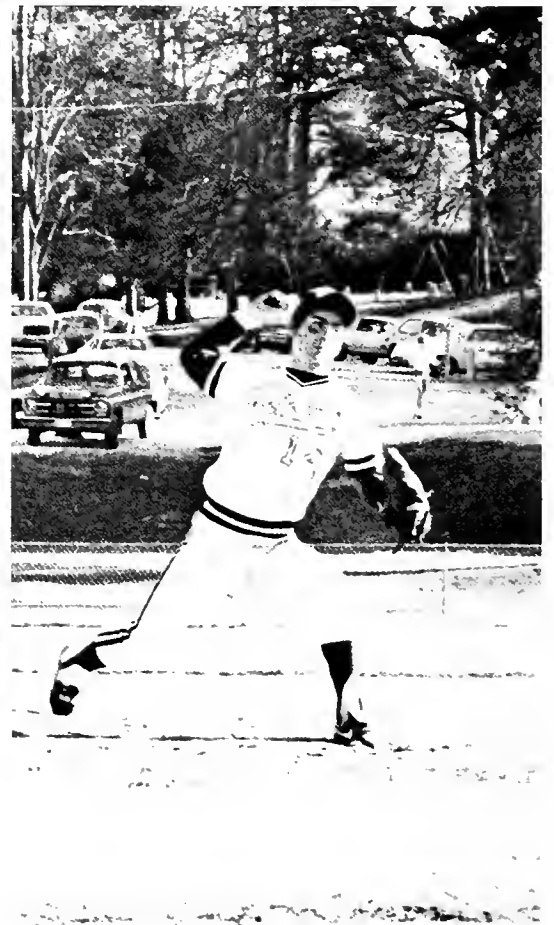

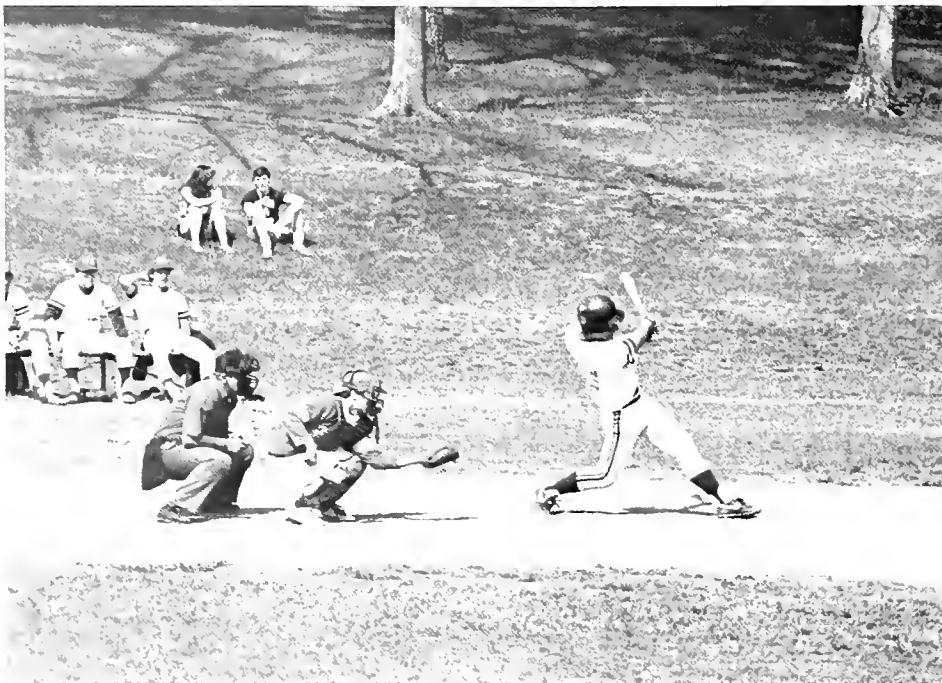

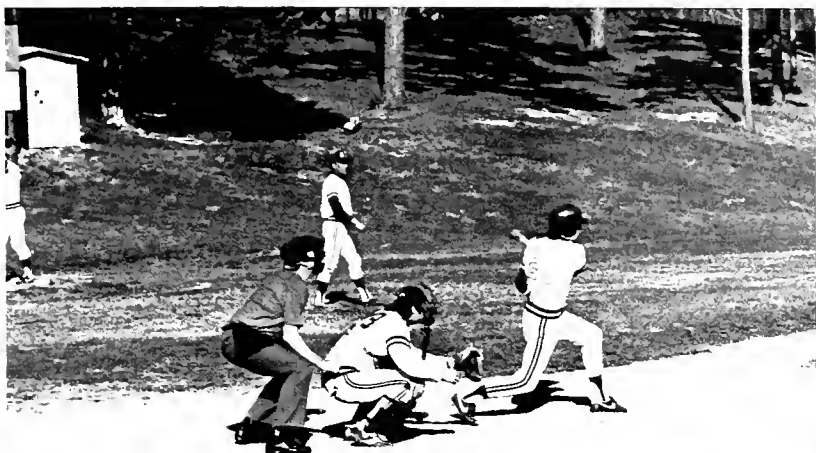

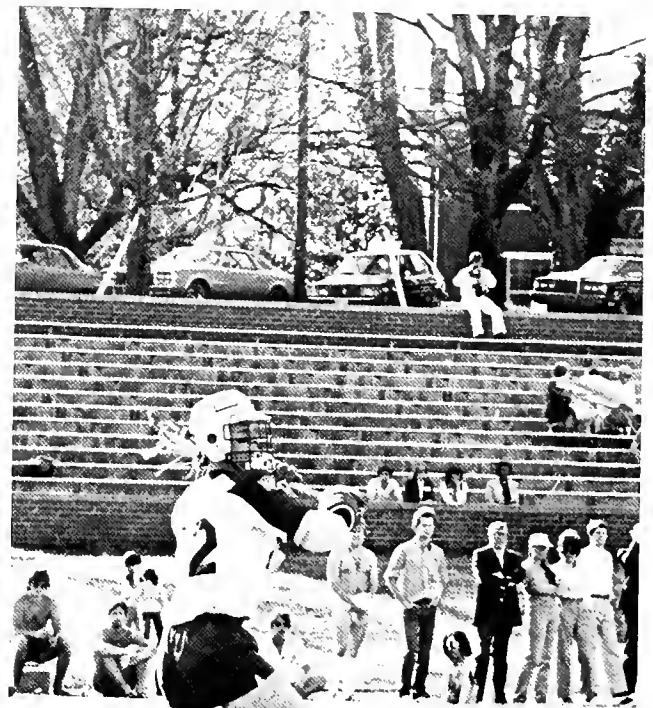

The Tiger thin-clads began their second season under the guidance of Coach David Taylor with a home dual meet against Division II powerhouse Virginia State University. Senior Bo Sydnor placed second overall with a 28:11 for the eight kilometer course and emerged as the dominant Tiger runner — a position he would hold throughout the season. Senior Captain Gene Bruner also ran well, a 28:22 for fifth place.

The next weekend the Harriers hosted three schools for an early season squad meet. With top runners John Penn Turner (All-Conference, 1980) and Gene Bruner out of the line-up, only Bo Sydnor cracked the top five. His 27:12 was good for second overall and proved the senior from Charlottesville could run with the best in the state.

Hampden-Sydney's runners dominated the Eagles from Bridgewater in their next home meet. Bo Sydnor raced for the win in 27:17 with Gene Bruner, John Penn Turner, and freshman standout John Thomson taking the third, fourth, and fifth places, respectively. Also placing in the top ten for the Tigers were sophomore Bruce Elliott (29:07) and freshman Mike Fucella (30:24).

The Tiger Harriers took to the road for their next meet, traveling to Mount Trashmore in Virginia Beach for a clash with Division II teams Norfolk State University and Hampton Institute. The Tigers nearly stole the show with top-runners Sydnor and Turner taking third and fourth places followed by Thomson and Bruner in sixth and eighth.

Four weeks of all-out running left Bo Sydnor injured for the next home dual meet against Mary Washington. Gene Bruner and John Penn Turner finished as usual 2-3 overall, but without help in the lower positions the Tigers lost a close one.

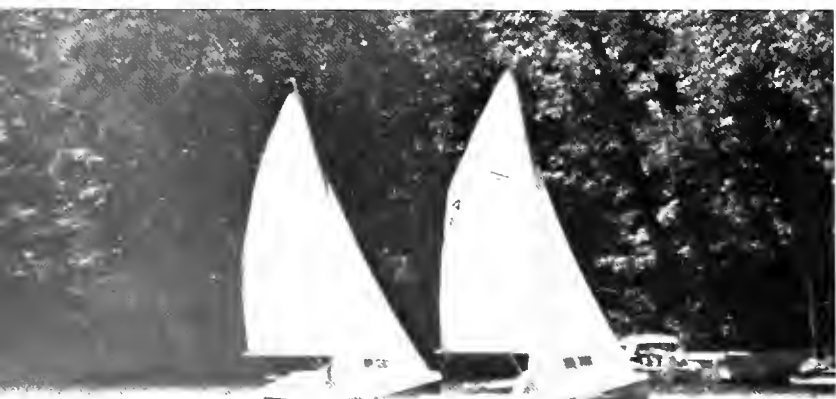

Over seventy runners from across the state gathered on the Hampden-Sydney campus the next weekend as the Tigers played host for the Virginia State Cross-Country Championship for NCAA Division II and III schools. The Harriers held their own on a bad day with all Tiger runners well below their best times. Even so, Hampden-Sydney placed in the middle of the pack, fifth of ten teams.

The thin-clads finished a season of ups and downs on a down note in the ODAC Championship. Only year-long standout Bo Sydnor placed in the top ten — ninth in 26:47 for five miles — while John Penn Turner managed fourteenth in 27:14. Both were All-Conference Second Team and earned a trip to Nashville, Tennessee, for the NCAA Regional Qualifying Meet. Bo Sydnor missed placing in the top fifteen, and thereby qualifying for the national championship, by three-tenths of one second. Just as well — Hampden-Sydney's outstanding runner of 1981 limped home with a severely pulled groin muscle. The season came to a close with a courageous and close but disappointing race that served well as a summary of the entire season.

The Garnet

The aim of the Garnet (founded in 1884 as the Hampden-Sydney Magazine and published annually since then, with a few exceptions around wartimes) is to offer students an opportunity to demonstrate their literary ability by expressing themselves through their creative efforts. Each year the Garnet publishes an outstanding collection of poems, short stories, essays, and art work by student writers and artists.

Editor — Rick Harris
Business Manager — Jim Nottingham

UPLS

The present Union-Philanthropic Literary Society incorporated the old Philanthropic Literary Society, founded in 1805, and the Union Literary Society, founded in 1789, and is the oldest established student debating and literary society in the nation with the exception of Princeton's Whig Clisophic Society.

The Society engages in intra-collegiate as well as intercollegiate debating and discussion of local, national, and transcendent topics.

President — Kevin Hubbard

H-S Vol. Fire Dept.

The Hampden-Sydney Fire Department, the only student-run fire department in the Commonwealth, was reorganized in October 1970 as a Prince Edward County Fire Department to provide fire protection to the College and the southern areas of the county.

The department presently operates a 1968 Ford 750 GPM engine, a 1973 Dodge van, a brush truck, and a 1976 Ford F-750 1250-gallon tank truck.

The department's worst fire of the year was a four-alarm fire at Thaxton's nursing home. Battling sub-zero temperatures and 20 mph winds, the firemen were unable to save the old building.

In March, the members had a chance to prove their founding with a fire on the third floor of Venable Hall. Within minutes of the call, the blaze was extinguished. Almost twenty-five years earlier, McIlwaine Hall had burned, prompting the formation of the Hampden-Sydney Fire Department.

"TRY THIS WITH ANY OTHER DICTATING MACHINE"

Arnold Palmer

Lanier's new Pocket Caddy™ has all the features without all the buttons. With most portable dictating machines, instead of flying through paperwork, you end up fumbling with the controls. Not any more. Lanier's slim new Pocket Caddy is a microcassette dictating machine you can operate with your eyes closed. You work all the controls with just a thumb and a finger.

But fewer buttons doesn't mean fewer ingenious features. The Pocket Caddy has some you'd never expect. Like two types of cueing. One to mark the end of a letter. Another to change something you've already dictated.

If you have your hands full with your present portable, get a private demonstration of the new Pocket Caddy. Call (800) 241-1706

The heading "Pictures" for the advertising section was not for the reason that so many photographs were used (more than in most yearbooks), but for the reason that each ad is a "depiction", if you will, of the segments of the surrounding community that we have been a part of over the years. Summed up, they help define that mystical, highly prized, and often misunderstood treasure known as "the Hampden-Sydney experience."

The businesses of Farmville, many run by alumni, have been loyal to the college since its founding in 1776. Alumni support, however, has not been limited to Farmville. Graduates in all areas of business have contributed to this book.

The patronage by the local businesses is greatly appreciated. The involvement by the alumni, though, is not surprising. It is part of the tradition at Hampden-Sydney. The alma mater's sons are loyal to the end.

And so we leave our mark, small as it may be, in the remote part of a distant county. The film advances. The shutter clicks. The image is formed. The time is remembered. Pictures.

Reflections

And so the year comes to a close. It has been a good year. A year of joy, sadness, elation and frustration all rolled into one. A year full of many fond memories.

Memories. Reflections upon the past. The images form in our minds. Images of freshman orientation, frat parties, Greek Week and Rhetoric exams. As if they were recorded on a film in our minds, we see the Venable Hall fire, the Homecoming Game, our first day at Hampden-Sydney.

From freshman to senior, we have all experienced something at Hampden-Sydney that we would like to remember. However, memories fade over time. The "film" in our minds wears thin. The images become cloudy.

Unlike our minds, the printed page does not fade. This past year, I have had the privilege of working on a book about the Hampden-Sydney experience, the 1982 Kaleidoscope. Although each person's experiences here are as unique as his fingerprints, I have attempted through words and photographs to capture the essence of Hampden-Sydney College. If you can pick up this book a year from now, or ten years from now, and still remember your years at Hampden-Sydney, then I have succeeded.

Actually, I think I will succeed. It is not hard to produce a good yearbook when you have such a wealth of the resources that this institution provides and a staff that utilizes these resources. Special thanks must go to Bill Carr, my business manager who made sure we were still solvent. The other members of the editorial staff deserve medals just for putting up with my rantings and ravings.

Photography is one of the more important aspects of a quality yearbook. The members of Hampden-Sydney Photographic were a big help.

Ron Stern, the man whose beautiful photographs of the campus grace calendars and admissions publications, was kind enough to assist in printing the color photographs on short notice. He is also credited with a number of the color shots in the closing. Thank you gentlemen.

Of course, yearbooks are not made of photographs alone. Dr.

Richard McClintock and Dr. David Taylor were my skilled mentors in writing, designing, and editing this book. Without their advice, counsel and support over the past four years, producing this book would have been a chore rather than the joy it has been.

Acknowledgements are a part of any book and this book is no exception as I have already shown. I must continue to follow tradition and give special thanks to some very special people involved with this book. The most important person that I must recognize is my lovely wife Janet. She is the one who allowed me to stay out all night so that I could write this passage. She also helped type, print photographs, and reminded me to eat and sleep. Behind every great man . . .

Mom and Dad, I love you too. You're footing the bill.

Despite all of these special people, there is still one group that has contributed the most to this yearbook. It is to them I dedicate this book. I dedicate it to the men of Hampden-Sydney College — past, present, and future.

Photographs. Depictions of events and people. Essays of a thousand words. Mirrors of the real world worthy of imitation. Stimulating thoughts and emotions; reflections of the past. Reflections of traditions. We place a high value on the philosophy of tradition. But there is one tradition at Hampden-Sydney that we value above all of the rest. It is a tradition that has been honored here for over two-hundred years: a tradition of excellence.

*Here's to old Hampden-Sydney,
A glass of the finest, Red ruby, rhenish filled up to the brim!
Her sons they are many,
Unrivalled by any,
With hearts o'erflowing we will sing this hymn.*

*Rah! Rah! H-S Rah!
Our old Alma Mater's sons we are;
We will herald the story
And we die for the glory,
For Red and Gray are ever waving high.*

*As frosh we explore her,
As sophs we adore her,
And carve our names upon her ancient wall;
As juniors patrol her,
As seniors extol her,
We'll trust Alma Mater's power in all.*

*Rah! Rah! H-S Rah!
Our old Alma Mater's sons we
are;
We will herald the story
And die for the glory,
For Red and Grey are ever waving high.*
